Winter Welcome

As the days grow shorter and the nights become longer in winter, I feel myself naturally drawn to spiritual reading and study. It's a great time to join with others in spiritual study by taking classes at CSL, classes filled with practical applications of spiritual principles. Classes provide a way to build strong friendships and become part of a lively community.

Ever wonder where to start? Take a look at the next page for classes that we recommend as your Pathway for Spiritual Growth. The graphic on page 3 depicts the sequence for taking Core Classes that can lead you to Practitioner Training or to Continuing Education for those not desiring to become practitioners. Each class holds the keys for understanding spiritual principles that, when applied to your life, opens you up to more joy, abundance, and wisdom.

If you are new to our community, I recommend starting with the foundational class called Beyond Limits: Living a Thriving Life described on page 4. We are kicking off a new payment program for our 3 Core classes Beyond Limits, Spiritual Practice, and Self Mastery, called "Pay What You Will." You determine the value of the class for you, and pay a tuition amount that is right for you. More about this on page 4. Rev. Kathianne's iFlourish: Intentions Workshop 2.0 on January 10 offers a wonderful way to select a personal theme as we embark on a new year. Rev. Kathianne will also be teaching a new teleclass called What Would Jesus Do? See more about it on page 7.

Check out our Spirit at Work ministry with its many interesting offerings through the Better Business Breakfast and Lunch series, as well as the Wealth Now ministry's Monthly Salons the third Sunday of each month.

If you are looking for guidance in your spiritual studies, you can find me by the Education Table in the Lobby after each service on Sundays and Wednesdays. I love to connect people to their next perfect course along with hearing about how your class experiences are enhancing your life.

Blessings to you,

Introduction to the Bible

Bible? No. Thanks. Heard about it—don't care to know more. That's the gut reaction for many of us when Bible study comes up. But this class is not your ordinary Bible study—it looks at the story primarily from a psychological perspective. Imagine viewing Adam and Eve as symbolizing the birth of your own ego, and the rest of the stories as metaphors for the evolution of your unique personality. Then you'll have some idea why so many have called this the most unique and fascinating Bible class they have ever taken.

Hell and the Underworld: Literal, Symbolic or Nonexistent?

Mark Twain said: “Go to Heaven for the climate and Hell for the company.” The ideas of Hell and the Underworld exist in every mythology: Pagan, Egyptian, Hindu, Buddhist, Jewish, Christian, Muslim, Greco-Roman, Native American, Secular, etc. This class will explore why this is so. Practically, we will explore:

- How we enter the underworld through our personal relationships
- How we enter the underworld through our dreams
- How to address the pain of our own “hellish” thinking
- Ideas about justice and judgment after death
- Praying for our deceased loved ones

Instead of living in fear or ignorance, let’s examine the psycho-spiritual reasons that humans in every culture rediscover and wrestle with this universal psychological phenomenon.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT: ALEX PERLMAN

Alex brings an enthusiastic commitment to his spiritual study. “I work on myself so I can become, consciously, the vessel that God wants me to be. I work this on three levels – spiritual practice, education, and making sure I’m ready to be right-sized.”

For Alex, ‘right-sizing’ is consciousness expansion through spiritual study. “As we exercise the consciousness muscle we see different ways to use it. At work, at home, in community activities – we take it wherever we go.” His spiritual learning is also purpose driven. “It gives me tools I can use to make a difference in lives – mine and others.”

As a current student in Practitioner Training, does he see this as the last step on his spiritual education path? “I consistently check in with my Self and ask if there is more for me to study or am I grown. The small voice, so far, has always said “there’s more to learn.”

Jan 7: So You Wanna Write?

See details in CLASS description on pg 13.

Feb 4: Judgment to Discernment or From "To me" to "Through Me"

Presented by: Don W. Beaty, President, The Summit Group
 We've spent years developing good judgment to make sure we are never guilty of bad judgment. After all, isn't that what a successful business person does? Well, I don't think so. At its simplest, judgment is simply about separation. It is about separating the "good" from the "bad" which at best leaves us unbalanced and stuck. In this workshop we're going to leave judgment and move into possibility through the use of discernment. Possibility requires discernment of choice and decision. It requires discernment in source and direction.

Mar 4: Activating Your 12 Spiritual Powers

Presented by: Rev. Kathianne Lewis, DD
 Ancient wisdom of the Middle East taught that all of us were born with 12 "powers" located in the body that could be activated with thought and used to help us thrive in all ways. These powers, when recognized and called into action, bring health and healing to every area of your life, especially the body.

Apr 8: Claim Your Good! Own Your Numbers!

 It can all be so intimidating and sometimes it seems they are speaking a different language. Gladys has the key to translating this language so that this information becomes a powerful tool for the success of your business. This class will pin down the basics and then move on to a simple, empowering tool that will allow you to focus your time and energy on growing your Good through the numbers!

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT – MAKENA PHILLIPS

After taking a break from attending, Makena Phillips returned to CSL after noticing that people who had what she wanted in her life had a strong spiritual program.

An announcement one Sunday about the Better Business Breakfast inspired her to sign up for her first class at CSL. "I thought, how awesome would it be to have support in making my business a success!" Makena found more business support after attending the BBB several times. She started to see "how I saw myself. How I saw God. I got very clear that what was stopping me from having what I wanted were my own beliefs."

A pivotal workshop was Making God Your Partner in Business – the Chief Spiritual Officer with May McCarthy. It introduced her to the concept of making her business a spiritual practice. "The fear that I used to have all the time dissipated and now when I don't know something, I think, great! My CSO will help out."

Makena's education path at CSL also included the core courses and she is now in Practitioner Training. "I love taking classes because they help open me up to other possibilities. I can hear the same thing over and over, but because I've changed, I hear it differently each time."

Riding the Elevator Pitch to Success

Discover how to create a successful elevator pitch so that investors want to invest and customers want to buy! Learn the process that gives your pitch focus and caters to your specific audience. May will outline how investors, customers, and suppliers think and what they look for in a partner company. You'll learn the intentional components of differentiating your company to create a winning situation for all! May will share the steps to cultivating your intuitive self as a tool to succeed.
